We would like to acknowledge Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people as the Traditional Custodians of the land and water ways on which we work and live.

We pay our respects to Elders past, present and emerging and recognise the wisdom in Traditional practices and how this continues to protect country.

We acknowledge that sovereignty was never ceded, and it 'Always Was, Always Will Be - Aboriginal Land'.

The Pacific Climate Warriors is a network of young people working together in the fight against the fossil fuel industry, pressuring institutions to divest from fossil fuels and work towards a greener, cleaner future.

Pacific Climate Warriors across the globe share stories of how Pacific Island nations and its people are on the frontlines of climate change but are also at the forefront of climate justice. Through storytelling, in particular traditional means of storytelling, we are changing the narrative of our people from victims of climate change to warriors of the Pacific, thriving and surviving despite climate change.

This colouring book is a continuation of 'MATAGI', a short film brought to life by the Pacific Climate Warriors Brisbane team as a call out for the Global Climate Strike in September 2019.

Unapolojaetic ILLUSTRATIONS

Jaelyn Biumaiwai is of Fijian and Aboriginal ancestry, and started Unapolojaetic Illustrations out of a desire to connect further with her communities, and those alike. Jaelyn's work primarily focuses on illustrating those of Indigenous heritages and elevating the beauty of culture in a unique way. Things in life that Jaelyn loves is culture and creativity, and when combined, it brings her inspiration and empowerment.

Growing up, Jaelyn was racially discriminated against and therefore felt like she couldn't be the person she wanted to be, because of what ran in her blood. Today, she draws strength from her cultures and is the most inspired, knowledgeable and unapologetic version of herself. Through these qualities, Jaelyn uses them to hold space within the creative community.
